The new Ford Ranger is most versatile

With a Rameder towbar, the pick-up is turned into a powerful tractor unit

Just a workhorse? To a modern pick-up like the Ford Ranger this no longer applies. Multiple configurations and an extensive safety package turn the Ranger into a convenient multifunctional car. Rameder, Europe's leading provider of automotive transport solutions, now makes it even more versatile. With a towbar from its online shop at www.rameder.eu, the latest generation of the pick-up is turned into a powerful tractor unit.

If you want to use your Ford Ranger, as of the 2015 model, in combination with a caravan, for example, you should use the GDW towing hitch with its 2-hole flange ball. At a vertical load of 250kg, the Ranger can now tow 3500kg, more than enough for a large caravan, a 2-horse trailer or a small yacht.

This towing hitch can be found at www.rameder.eu for €278, including the 7-pin specific electrical kit. Smart drivers of car-plus-caravan combinations can also buy an anti-theft device in the Rameder online shop: a box lock made of a galvanised special steel is available from €21.99.
